For the first time a ship of this type was discovered on one of the satellites of the gas giant MOA-2011-BLG-322. The titanic ancient ship was abandoned for millennia. By pure chance, it was discovered by treasure hunters. A working mini-shipyard was found on board, which enabled Ellydium Corporation to quickly launch mass production of similar vessels, but much smaller.

These ships were transferred to the UMC for testing.

Galactic Standards are used as a universally recognized monetary unit for the purchase of unique goods and services in the Star Conflict universe. With Galactic Standards your progress in the game will become easier and more comfortable.

If you purchase multiple DLC, bonuses to credits, synergy and loyalty are stacked. Together they give a bigger bonus! Premium license time and Galactic Standards are also stacked!

You save your time and go straight into battle!

The game is awesome keep up the good work and dont give up on the game!. Basically the only ship in the game where everywhere is forward and backward. It doesnt have any dedicated thrusters.

Other than that, you can upgrade it like the Ellydium ships (well, it's one too) but that's about it. It's not really op as you can still die easily if you play dumb,. If you wanted a mini destroyed with unique playstyle get this thing.

it's totally worth it

The ships is contain :

- Upgradeable nodes

you can farm the "Enriched Monocrystal" daily, and sometimes at the open space task, the requirement of it not really massive so its gonna take 2 day or so if you doesn't have one yet.

- Frigate Guard type

Hell, i love tanky stuff, and not like other frigate type, this one is speedy and slippery.

thought the shield is kinda paper compared to other guard ships at the same tier.

- Extra 5K Galactic Standards

it's maybe not much for pay to win users but, for poor man like me that need to save me a whole month to get this ship its really helpful, either i can buy the resource materials when i lazy (i never did this thought) or buying some active modules that hard to get.. Kool Ship i love this thing, best part is the upgrade aspect of it. My other fav thing about the UFO is every direction is forward so no having to turn around in a bulky ship to face oncoming traffic.
